

Adelaide Primary School. Success all round.

ADELAIDE Primary is an excellent school. In fact it has been recognised by the government as one of the top 100 performing schools in the country, for achievement and attainment.

"We were delighted with our SATs results last year." said head teacher Brian Roberts. "Our writing results in particular, were outstanding. Like all schools across the country, we have been trying really hard to improve writing. Everyone worked very hard to achieve these results so we were all thrilled."

The SFA (Success for All) reading programme, which was implemented four years ago, continues to give Adelaide's children a superb grounding in all aspects of phonics, comprehension, discussion and writing.

Parents have been invited into school to watch their children during SFA lessons. "We are very pleased that the feedback has been so positive." said Mr Roberts.

The school has included several special writing days into the SFA programme based on the children's first hand experiences which have been very well-received.
